

Scene 5B: Ancient Greece

Greek Chorus -

1 - Caitlin

2 - Emily

3 - Nariah

4 - Dana

5 - Ya Pei

Sophocles (saw-foh-clees) - Zayna

Herodotus (her-rod-ih-tuhs) - Melina

Euripedes (yer-ihp-ee-dees) - Eva

Aeschylus (es-kih-luhs) - Jessica

Chorus:

WE ARE THE CHORUS OF ANCIENT GREEKS.
WE HAVE TO ACT TOGETHER SO WE PRACTICE FOR WEEKS.
LISTEN VERY CAREFULLY FOR WHEN WE SPEAK,
WE WILL TELL YOU OF THE WONDERS OF THE ANCIENT GREEKS.

Sophocles: No, no, no, that will never do! Nobody will believe you if you don't give it more emotion. Now please..... one more time with a little feeling!

Chorus: (with more emphasis, over acting like crazy)

WE ARE THE CHORUS OF ANCIENT GREEKS.
WE HAVE TO ACT TOGETHER SO WE PRACTICE FOR WEEKS.
LISTEN VERY CAREFULLY FOR WHEN WE SPEAK,
WE WILL TELL YOU OF THE WONDERS OF THE ANCIENT GREEKS.

Herodotus: How's it going, Sophocles? Is the play almost finished?

Sophocles: Terrible. Just terrible, Herodotus. The play festival in Athens is less than a week away and I can't get this chorus to work together for anything.

Euripedes: Well, what's the new play about anyway?

Sophocles: It's supposed to be about all of the wonderful things of Greece that will be around for thousands of years after we are all dead and gone.

Aeschylus : Sounds interesting!

Sophocles: It is interesting. But I can't seem to come up with the right hook to tie it all together.

Herodotus: How about (dramatically as though he sees the name in lights) "The ODYSSEY?"

Sophocles: No. Homer beat me to it.

Euripedes: (with drama) How about "Greece: The Musical?"

Sophocles: It will never fly.

Aeschylus: "Mamma Mia," what will you do???. (laughs at own joke)

Sophocles/Herodotus/Euripedes/Aeschylus : (Scratching their heads)
Hmhmhmhm

Chorus: HOW ABOUT GREECE IS THE WORD?

Sophocles: What? What did you say?

Chorus: GREECE. GREECE IS THE WORD
AND GIVE IT A GOOD DANCE GROOVE

Sophocles: That's it!!

Chorus: GLAD YOU THOUGHT OF IT

SONG 5: GREECE IS THE WORD