Riki: Gee, I had no idea that Ancient Greece had such a lasting effect on the world.

Ret: This is just great, Lucky. No bones about it. You really know your stuff! Get it? No BONES about it? Huh? Get it?

Lucky: I get it, kid. You're right, Riki. Greece did have a huge impact on the world, as did the ancient Romans.

Ret: Oh, I remember. The Romans were the first to try a real republic.

Lucky: Not to mention expanding to one of the most powerful Empires that ever existed. Why, you can still see signs of ancient Rome as far away as Morocco, Iraq and even England.

Riki/Ret: Wow!

Lucky: Wow is right. And legend says it all started with twin brothers and they dream to build a city.

Remus: No, Romulus. I'm telling you, I had a dream. In this dream I saw six vultures flying over the east spot where we should build the city.

Romulus: No, Remus! I, too, had a dream. And in MY dream, I saw 12 vultures flying over the spot where we were found as babies in that basket and raised by that wolf. 12 is more than 6, so that is where we should build the city.

Remus: Six is an omen from the gods that the spot I chose is right.

Romulus: 12 is a bigger omen.

Remus: 6!

Romulus: 12!

Remus: 6!

Romulus: 12!

Remus: I'm telling mom!

Romulus: What does she care? She's a wolf, for Pete's sake! (matter of factly)
Now, I must kill you with this rock.

(Romulus picks up a rock and hit Remus over the head with it. Remus dies a dramatic death)

Romulus: (proudly, he unrolls blueprints envisioning the city) And I'll call it Rome!

Roman 1: Hey, Romulus. How is Rome coming along?

Roman 2: Yeah, Romulus. Heard you were having some problems with your aqueducts.

Romulus: Look guys! It can't be built in a day, you know!

Roman 3: No need to be snippy, Romulus!

Roman 4: I just hope it's ready for Caesar's big bash on Saturday night!

Roman 1: Oh, rats! I forgot all about the big party. And I don't have a thing to wear!

Roman 2: Don't worry! The word is out that the dress is white Toga, so you're all set.

Roman 3: Togas? Great! I've got a linen closet full of them!

Roman 4: Well then, what are we waiting for? Let's go!
